

The Secrets of the Most Beautiful Woman in the World

Angelina Jolie's beauty regimen is finally revealed

Angelina Jolie is, without question, breathtaking. Her famous features — especially her plump pout — are the most requested among women seeking plastic surgery in America. So it's no surprise that ladies across the globe are clamoring to find out the Oscar winner's beauty secrets. What's surprising is that Angelina's beauty routine, unlike some other stars', isn't that unattainable. Life & Style reveals the details that had been the best-kept secret in Hollywood...until now.

Angie's Basics
From her makeup to her mane, Angie, 36, has one mantra: Keep it simple. Makeup artist Toni Garavaglia keeps the actress' look natural. Instead of using foundation, Angie prefers to let her skin breathe, using Clé de Peau Beauté concealer on specific areas only. She loves to play up her full lips with shine rather than color, favoring Chantecaille gloss. Her beauty staple? MAC eyeliner is all the star uses for her smoky and winged-liner looks.

Keeping it low-key also applies to her locks. "Angelina likes her hair long and lush," says an insider. "She dyes her hair dark brown to look like her mom's and to cover some of her grays." When she hits the red carpet, Angie likes her stylist, David Babaii, to make her strands luxe via a good blowout with high shine.

And what about her age-defying skin? "She's been using the Colbert MD skin care line since filming Salt," says a source. But the reason she has no wrinkles? "She gets the occasional fraxel-laser treatment, never uses soap on her face and always applies SPF 30." LS
